Looking Back and Looking Forward

We have had more snow already this season than we did last winter, it sure should help to replenish the dams and dugouts. We should get off to a good start next spring as our fall moisture situation is much better.

The annual South Dakota Angus Association membership meeting went well in Aberdeen, S.D. held the Sunday evening before the Northeast Region tour. The prime rib supper was excellent; there was a nice membership crowd for the meeting. American Angus CEO Mark McCully and American Angus Board Member Charles Mogck each gave detailed updates. We voted to have a PGS bull show along with the PGS heifer show that will be held at the Junior Angus Preview Show in Redfield in June. SD Angus will also be sponsoring an Angus Futurity Steer Show at the Spotlight Show in July. Presently the Futurity Heifer Show has been slowly growing in size and we would like to see more Angus steers get shown. Please help spread the word on these two junior opportunities. Mark Baxter with Baxter Angus Farm of Rockham was named the SD Angus Breeder of the Year. Martin-Trudeau Insurance was named the Business of the Year. Thank you to everyone that attended the Northeast Region Angus Tour, we really had an excellent time, the weather, cattle, and fellowship was great. Thank you to the tour stop breeders, we heard many compliments on how well the tour was organized along with the quality seen at each stop. Next year's SD Angus tour date has been nailed down to Sept. 15-17 in the Black Hills Region. Please make plans to attend each year's SD Angus tour, we wanted to organize the tour areas so people can plan. 2026- Black Hills Region, 2027- Watertown/ Huron Region, 2028- Pierre Region, 2029- Southeast Region, 2030- Northwest Region, 2031- Rosebud Region, 2032- Northeast Region.

Congratulations to our $1,500 Heifer Grant winners Lindsey Kemnitz, Adaline Larson, Julia Ogren, Reese Otter, and Elizabeth Wonnenberg. Congratulations to our $1,500 Scholarship winners Tye McGraw, Chancy Koupal, Tez Dieters, Trinity Bietz,

FEATURING ANGUS

Connie Sieh Groop

Recognized for 82 years dedicated to ranching, the Erdmann family of Wetonka/Leola, S.D. were named by the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce Ag Committee as the 2025 Farm Family of the Year.

Speaking for the family, Anne Jo Erdmann says, “We were super surprised and honored to be chosen this year. Our slogan has been ‘Erdmann Angus, we’ve been here for you in the past, and we will be here for years to come.’”

Each year, the Aberdeen Area Chamber of Commerce Ag Committee selects and honors a farm family who represents farming and ranching and the spirit of agriculture in northeastern South Dakota.

The family received the honor as they prepared to be one stop on the Northeast South Dakota Angus tour on September. The tour showcased their operation along with nine other ranches. Erdmann says, “They honored us by choosing us as a stop on this year’s Angus tour. Our son Royce has been moving mountains to get ready for the event.”

The family focuses on the Angus cattle breed, breeding for maternal factors, which provides a powerful base to build a cow herd. “We can trace the bloodlines of our cows and bulls back to the 1940s, with the queen of Wetonka family. We breed for longevity, high production and feed efficiency, all with docility and a great attitude. There are no implants and no growth hormones used.”

Ora Erdmann started Erdmann Angus in 1938 with the first registered Angus cattle starting in 1943. Ora’s sons LeRoy, Albert and Ronnie worked with him. The family has impacted the Angus breed worldwide for many years. In 2024, the family received the historic Angus herd award for continuously producing registered Angus cattle for 50 years.

Albert’s sons Daniel, 60, and Joseph, 59, are the only Erdmann descendants still raising registered Angus cattle today. Daniel’s son Royce works full time in the operation. Many other family members help when needed at weaning time or when moving cows. Erdmann says, “Our kids weren’t born in a barn, but I’d guess that within the first month of life, they were out there. It’s our jam!”

Daniel is married to Anne Jo Erdmann. Their children include Royce and Allie Erdmann, Brianna and Drew Schwarrock, and Reid and Myranda Erdmann. They have five grandchildren.

Joseph is married to Sheila Erdmann. Their children include Andrew and Trish Erdmann and Matthew Erdmann and Angelica Pina. There are three grandchildren.

Currently, Erdmann Angus Ranch LLC operates at two locations. The south facility claims Wetonka, S.D. as its address, and maintains land from the original settlement of Erdmanns in McPherson County. Joseph and Sheila live there.

The north ranch is six miles northwest of Leola, S.D., and Daniel and Anne Jo and their families have their home there. Between the two operations, 26 quarters of land provide grazing, haying and crop ground to provide for 900 mature cows. Intensive grazing management, rotational grazing, cover crops, water reservoir management, and tree planting have been techniques involved.

“Each year, from our 900 cows, about half of the calves are bulls and half are females,” Erdmann says. “Of the bull calves, only about 55 will be good enough to sell as registered bulls. We don’t want to sell any bulls that we wouldn’t consider good enough for us to keep in our herd. We add in new sires but if they don’t meet our high level of performance, we won’t keep them.”

She adds, “We sell our females as replacement heifers as a way for others to start their registered herd. They have all been Bangs vaccinated and can be the seed start for another person’s herd.”

She says they also keep back 120 to 130 superior quality females every year to repopulate the herd. In the summer, these cows will graze in 30 different pastures at the two locations.

“Our operation has had to be flexible to handle challenges through these 82 years. Facing weather events such as drought and blizzards is the nature of the beast. We’ve learned to be resourceful and conservative to han-

Are you ready for the GeneMax Advantage?

I often find myself in conversation with breeders wondering what they can do to “Stand out” amongst other breeders in the commercial cow/calf sector. One idea would be to help your customers understand the Gene-

Max Advantage test for replacement heifers. Why test using the GeneMax Advantage? The GeneMax Advantage test allows you to select as well as mate females with confidence. You receive accurate predictions and you can make faster genetic progress with the use of this unique tool. What information do you receive with the GeneMax Advantage test? You will receive 22 individual traits with the GeneMax Advantage test as well as the Advantage Indexes and $Values. You will also receive Sire Match – so you can mate your females with confidence from a pedigree standpoint. Angus Breeders can receive a rebate from putting a GeneMax

Advantage ad in their sale catalog. This ad can help you promote to the use of this tool to your commercial cow/calf bull customers. There is also a Customer Service Toolkit for Breeders that is available online at angus.org. If learning more about the GeneMax Advantage interests you, please tune in to the American Angus Association’s GeneMax Advantage Webinar scheduled for January 21st, 2026 at 7 PM. Looking forward to seeing everybody on the sale trail! Please give me a call if I can assist you in any way.

dle the cyclical nature of our industry.”

With two locations, many times one place is drier or wetter than the other, so they can shift animals or cut hay or vice versa. Daniel, Joseph and Royce keep each other informed about plans with daily check-ins.

With high cattle prices, the family is conservative and knows that the bottom of the market could drop out at any time. They plan ahead and stockpile feed when they have a bountiful year.

Erdmann says, “We’re excited to be the fourth generation and look forward to the grandchildren carrying on the legacy. Ora and my grandfather, Art Tesch of Watertown, provided a great deal of knowledge that we rely on today. We’ve built on their experiences and expanded on other things. We use artificial insemination and embryo transplants. Technology provides solar battery chargers and RFID tags in the ears of our animals. One vet we’ve used for ultrasounding the cows has the images show up on his special glasses. That’s pretty amazing.”

Royce has innovative ideas about ways to do things but sometimes it works to tweak some of the old ways to improve the workflow.

“At Erdmann Angus Ranch LLC, we believe in the future of agriculture in our youth,” Erdmann says. “We are active supporters of McPherson County and State 4-H, Leola FFA, SD and American Angus Juniors, and Sweet 16 Livestock Shows. Several show heifers and steers have been donated, rented, and sold to younger members to help them establish a positive experience in exhibiting livestock.”

She states, “We are truly blessed to celebrate weddings and grandchildren.”

Many family members have served on local, state, regional, and national boards to help support beef production and agriculture in many arenas.

This fall, the pastures around the locations were very green and muddy. Rain resulted in some hay that is not as good as the Erdmanns would prefer, but they feel blessed they could get a third cutting of hay. Some years, they are lucky to get one cutting.

“We prayed for rain, and we got it. We take the gifts that God gives us and feel blessed.”

Erdmann believes, “Today’s young people will feed our grandchildren in the future, and the best way to support that is to get out there and help them.”

Year-End Recap

The American Angus Association concluded a successful fiscal year in which registrations totaled more than 300,000 for the 11th consecutive year and were up nearly 2.4% from the year prior. Regular and junior memberships totaled 21,467. Leading seedstock sales during a record year in the cattle markets, registered Angus bulls and females both garnered high-dollar prices. Bulls averaged $8,395 and females bested that number by $41 – an increase of $1,200 and nearly $1,600 respectively compared to the year prior. The close of fiscal year also marked one year of a partnership between AngusLink<sup>SM</sup>, National Beef Packing Co., LLC (NBP) and U.S. Premium Beef, LLC (USPB). In a first-of-its-kind program, producers selling to USPB earned premiums based on the genetic merit of their cattle, as measured by the AngusLink Genetic Merit Scorecard<sup>SM</sup>. Looking at data from August 2024 through mid-February 2025, over 44% of cattle that have qualified for the program have graded Prime; compared to industry average of 11% Prime. Qualifying cattle have averaged more than $200 per head premium over selling in the cash market. The partnership’s success has been a testament to the AngusLink<sup>SM</sup> value-added program. Since 2019, premiums paid out total $94.5 million. Over the last year, more than 287,000 cattle have been enrolled in AngusLink, resulting in producers earning an average premium of $20.92 per hundredweight. Nearly 19,000 registered Angus bulls were represented in fiscal year 2025 enrollments.

ROV Honors

Angus cattle carry the tradition of excellence in the show ring, displayed across the country year after year. The American Angus Association® created the Roll of Victory (ROV) Show Program in 1984 to recognize show-winning animals, their sires, dams, breeders and owners on a per year basis.

The ROV Show Heifer of the Year, EXAR Princess 3691; the ROV Bull of the Year, FITZGERALD Saint Elmo 1997; and the ROV Breeder of the Year was Express Ranches.

SDSU Student Receives Top Scholarship Award from CAB

An undergraduate student in South Dakota State University’s College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences has received a prestigious Certified Angus Beef award.

Olivia Hadrick was among 17 students nationwide to receive undergraduate awards based on leadership, academics and involvement in the beef industry.

The Certified Angus Beef Colvin Scholarship Fund recognizes outstanding students studying animal and meat sciences and provides funds for their education “to benefit tomorrow’s leaders who are involved in their communities and the beef industry.”

“Seeing these students pursue their passions in agriculture is truly inspiring,” said Danielle Matter, Certified Angus Beef director of content strategy. “Each scholarship recipient is not only talented and driven but also represents the innovation, leadership and dedication that will shape the future of the beef industry. We’re proud to support their journey and excited to see the impact they’ll make for years to come.”

Hadrick was named the top scholarship winner of the Colvin Production Agriculture Scholarship and awarded $7,500. The focus of this scholarship area is to support students whose career goals include working in production agriculture like a farm, ranch or feedyard.

A sophomore animal science major, Hadrick grew up on a ranch near Faulkton, South Dakota. She said her family’s goal is to raise the best quality beef possible from their herd of 350 head of Black Angus. Their vision has led to a special connection to the brand.

Bayler Hurlbut Earns Junior Silver Award

Bayler Hurlbut, Raymond, S.D., has earned the National Junior Angus Association’s (NJAA) Silver award, according to Caitlyn Brandt, events and junior activities director of the American Angus Association® in Saint

Joseph, Mo. Hurlbut is the 11-year-old daughter of Dustin and Jeana Hurlbut and attends Clark Elementary School. She is a member of the NJAA and the South Dakota Junior Angus Association, where she serves as treasurer. She has participated in local, state, regional and national shows and showmanship contests. At the National Junior Angus Show (NJAS), Hurlbut participated in the photography, team fitting and creative writing contests.

the second level of the NJAA Recognition Program that began in 1972. Junior Angus breeders must apply for the award, then meet point requirements in many areas of participation before receiving the honor. Applicants are evaluated in areas of junior Angus association activities and leadership, participation in showmanship, contests and shows, using performance testing to improve their herd and their progress in producing and merchandising Angus cattle.

Introducing the 2026 Angus Foundation Heifer Package

Wilks Ranch to donate WILKS Rita 4728

The Angus Foundation is proud to announce WILKS Rita 4728 as the 2026 Foundation Heifer Package, generously donated by Wilks Ranch of Eastland, Texas. This female represents the kind of progressive, phenotypically correct genetics that define the Wilks program. Their offering showcases a breeding program built on form, function and balance and a commitment to the future of Angus.

WILKS Rita 4728 is a standout female from a maternal line that has proven themselves. Her maternal sister, WILKS Rita 4067, commanded $100,000 as Lot 6 in the 2024 Wilks Ranch Sale. Her dam will headline the upcoming fall production sale, and a maternal brother is slated to be a highlight in the 2025 Wilks Ranch Bull Sale. The consistency of this cow family is a testament to the quality of female Wilks Ranch are offering as this year's Foundation female.

Rita 4728 ranks in the top 1% for both $Beef and $Combined indexes, offering a powerful growth spread, elite structural correctness and eye-catching phenotype. She's the kind of female that blends performance with presence; built and bred right and backed by a story of success.

"She's cowy. That's what her mom is – she's just a good female," said Aaron Kaiser, seedstock manager at Wilks Ranch. "I think this female's going to be the same way but does it in a really neat number package and a neat pedigree."

Rita 4728 is correct in her confirmation, and she's got the numbers to back it up. Kaiser believes she has the versatility to be a donor, a show heifer or a female to produce bulls for a commercial producer.

Wilks Rita 4728 to sell as the 2026 Angus Foundation Heifer Package, donated by Wilks Ranch of Eastland, Texas. The sale of the Angus Foundation Heifer Package will take place Friday, January 9, 2026, at the 87th National Angus Bull Sale during Cattlemen's Congress in Oklahoma City.

Kaiser joined the Wilks Ranch team 13 years ago, bringing with him an understanding of Angus genetics and a passion for youth. Raised in West Texas, he showed Angus steers as a kid and converted his family's commercial herd to Angus in junior high. Today, he's raising his own children in agriculture.

"Agriculture teaches you how to work hard and how to be responsible," Kaiser said. "Agriculture is the way of life. The neat thing about ag is - I love the way I was raised, and I wanted my kids to have the same experience as I did."

That commitment to youth is part of what makes the Foundation

Heifer Package so meaningful to the Wilks team. They've hosted interns, mentored students and supported scholarships, all with the goal of shaping the next generation.

The 2026 Foundation Heifer Package will sell Friday, January 9, 2026, at the 87th National Angus Bull Sale during Cattlemen's Congress. The sale will start at 2 p.m. at the Oklahoma State Fairgrounds in Oklahoma City. Proceeds from the sale benefit the Angus Foundation and its vision to provide limitless opportunities to enhance excellence and innovation. # Meet Breed Objectives By Using the Planned Mating Tool

There is a tool available in your AAA Login to help make planning mating decisions easier.

Every herd has their own set of breeding objectives, designed to drive improvement for their operation and meet their customers' needs. To help meet breeding objectives, there are 34 genetic selection tools updated weekly for registered Angus animals, 25 individual expected progeny differences (EPDs) and 9 $Values. When considering potential matings, using a planned mating tool that provides the average genetic values predicted for that mating and also projects inbreeding coefficients for the future offspring, can be helpful when planning for the next generation of your herd.

Accessing the tool

In your AAA Login account, you can find the planned mating tool by following Reports > Interactive > Planned Mating Tool.

This tool is designed to help determine the average EPD profile of future offspring from a particular mating. The resulting EPDs are the average values of the sire and dam listed for the mating. The projected values are not calculated through the weekly genetic evaluation like traditional EPDs and $Values and should not be published as such. It is also important to note that the actual EPDs for progeny from the mating are likely to vary from the average EPDs from the mating tool.

Using planned mating

Any sires, such as AI sires or walking sires, can be added to the tool to mate with females in your herd. Up to 50 sires can be included per run of the tool and maximum of 100 sires per day.

Females from your herd, including any owned by memberships linked to your account, can be added to the planned mating tool. Up to 50 females can be included per run.

There are several ways animals can be added to a run within the tool. Sires or dams can be added individually with their tag or registration numbers. Animal sets and pastures can also be used to add animals into the tool. Another option is to upload a file with registration numbers for sires and dams.

In order for sires and dams to be used in the tool, they have to have a full suite of true EPDs. This means animals with interim EPDs or EPDs that are missing are not eligible to be included in the planned mating tool.

Calculating results

Once the animals are selected for matings, click "Calculate". This will return each female mated to each sire, grouped by female. The results can also be exported to Excel for more detailed sorting of results.

The resulting EPDs and $Values returned by the tool are average based on the sire and dam's values for each particular trait. Also included in the results is the projected inbreeding coefficient of each potential mating. This value provides a projected coefficient of inbreeding that can be used to manage inbreeding for the next generation of your herd.

More Additional resources can be found linked on the planned mating tool in Login.

The EPDs and $Values used by this tool for the sires and dams are those currently listed on EPD/Pedigree look-up, meaning the values update each Friday. If you have groups of animals you are planning mating decisions for in the upcoming breeding season, creating animal sets could be an efficient way to recalculate matings as needed.

While there are many factors to consider when planning matings in addition to EPDs and $Values, this tool can help simplify the process as you make the decisions to work towards your herd's breeding objectives and ultimately serve the needs of your commercial customer.

Hadrick Ranch Becomes First “Ranch To Table™” Certified Ranch in South Dakota

For several years Hadrick Ranch has delivered high quality beef to several restaurants across South Dakota, as well as through a robust direct-to-consumer business. Now all that beef can carry the Certified Angus Beef brand through the organization's Ranch to Table program. Hadrick Ranch is the first ranch in South Dakota to be certified through the program.

“We know consumers are always talking about opportunities to understand where their beef comes from while still being able to verify the quality of that beef,” says Troy Hadrick, who owns the ranch along with his wife Stacy and their three children. “The Ranch to Table program offered by Certified Angus Beef helps to provide that information, which was key in our decision to go through the certification process. We're extremely excited that we can start putting the Certified Angus Beef logo on our beef packages and grateful that CAB had the vision to bring this program forward.”

Through the Certified Angus Beef Ranch to Table program ranchers can go through an application process to have their beef carry the CAB label. To be eligible, ranchers must be members of the American Angus Association®, maintain a cow herd primarily influenced by registered Angus genetics, submit a current Beef Quality Assurance (or equivalent program) certificate, and provide standard procedures from their processor. Cattle going through the program must meet the brand's live-animal evaluation—be black hid ed, for example—and carcasses must meet the brand's 10 specifications verified by a USDA grader.

It was the carcass grade requirement that was the roadblock to getting the Ranch to Table certification for The Hadricks. The beef Hadricks market through their restaurant and consumer business is processed through an independent facility. While all their beef is inspected for food safety protocols by a USDA inspector, there wasn't an opportunity to offer the optional quality grade. Troy and Stacy worked with their processor—The Meathouse in Andover, S.D.—to enable a USDA inspector to provide a quality grade on their carcasses. That step helped the Hadricks complete the carcass requirement necessary for the Ranch to Table designation.

“Now you don't have to take our word for it that our beef is pretty darn good. Now it's also going to have that Certified Angus Beef label on it, so it's all now official at this point,” says Troy. “This is a great way forward for us as our ranch continues to evolve. Our kids are the sixth generation to operate this ranch, and it's exciting to have them be part of this.”

“We're so grateful to all of the people that made this happen,” says Stacy. “The people at Certified Angus Beef have been great at guiding us through the program.

We're also thankful for the people at The Meathouse for working with us, and to our partners at Vanguard Hospitality for agreeing to help us market our product.”

COURTESY

At Hadrick Ranch, it all starts with the cattle's genetics and culminates in an elite eating experience. Generations of ranching know-how, combined with modern technology, has allowed them to develop an award-winning Angus cowherd that produces some of the highest-quality beef in the country and the first Certified Angus Beef Ranch to Table designation.
